Respect ...

We want you to be absolutely sure that as our client, you will be treated with respect.

That means we will not only listen, but hear and understand. We will advise you about what is in your best interest, not ours. Doing so will help us gain your trust, which in the long run, is the best thing we can do for our company.

As an organization, we very much want to be a positive influence on our community. We believe we have the right attitude toward social concerns and responsibility.

Truehome Real Estate is a different kind of company.

First, we want to be different-for only if you're different, can you be better. We are set up to be open to new ideas. We try new things. We work together on various projects, in addition to our work in real estate sales.

Truehome is committed to real estate consumer education. We want our clients to make informed decisions, and we accomplish this from seminars, publications, informative advertisements, our web site, and individual consultation.

We value our employees. They enjoy the same kind of respect we give clients. Our employees are encouraged to further their education in real estate in order to best serve our clients and to enhance their real estate career. They participate in the growth of the company through profit-sharing.
